Dear Families,

More apple activities have been the focus of our curriculum this week. Martha and the children have baked a most delicious Oatmeal Apple Pie, an original recipe from Martha's daughter. Everyone loved it t snack time.

We also focused on a math activity that had the children counting in sequence from 1-10 in various ways: clapping, chanting, counting apples. All fun.

We read the book "Ten Little Fingers and Ten Little Toes, by Mem Fox and Helen Oxenbury. Please make sure you count all your child's toes and fingers together tonight!

It's getting colder out there; remember we go out every day. Your child needs to school dressed warmly. Note that mittens are preferable to gloves. Not only are they easier to put on, but fingers stay warmer. (They will get lost so please buy many cheap ones to replace as needed.)

Next week we are starting a new Pumpkin curriculum. We talked about how different pumpkins look in size, color and texture. Family HW- go on a "Pumpkin Hunt" in your neighborhood stores and farmer's market and send us a special (small) one. We would like to build a varied Pumpkin Museum in class.

As always, thank for your cooperation. Have a great weekend.

Sincerely,

Grazia for the Nursery Team
